EUROPEAN CORRESPONDENCE.

LETTER FROM BIRMINGHAM.

BIRMINGHAM ENGLAND, Sept. 10 1870.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

The European war progresses so rapidly, and assumes each day such unexpected phases, that anything written from across the ocean, is so far behind the telegraphic dispatches, as to seem old and "tame" before it appears in print. After twenty years of labor and, wonderful skill on the part of Louis Napoleon in building an Empire, the whole structure has exploded like a soap bubble, and in a day it dissolves and leaves not a wreck behind." To-day the Republic is in full operation, bloodless and hopeful, but all are expecting, looking, fearing a repetition of the former history of Paris. England is deeply interested in the great struggle, and in the change effected in France, for the two nations have been on most amicable terms for many years, and this close proximity makes it most important that friendly relations should continue.

The closing of the industries and ports of the Continent, has turned the tide of American trade, and England is supplying the materials for our markets which have formerly gone from the nations at war. Probably the increase of trade from this cause, is twenty-five per cent. over the usual average.—Though England furnished a large supply of arms during the American war, it does not appear that she has done anything of consequence in that line, for the present combatants. There seems to be no opposition to the establishment of a Republic by any of the Governments, or the people of the countries, but Mr. Washburn has been the first to officially recognize the new order of things, and extend the greetings and sympathies of his country. All these nations seem a little shy, and it is announced that England communicates officiously but not officially, with the new government. It is well that the old established, and triumphant Republic, should be first to hail the new, and give her moral aid. But it is hardly to be expected that a nation of 40,000,000, mostly uneducated, should inaugurate a Republic that will run so smoothly as our own, where a few people, virtuous, educated and harmonious laid the foundations, and gradually absorbed the foreign and diversified elements which lived into it. Yet, if notable leaders, general kindly feelings, and the wishes of the people can effect a permanent establishment of Republicanism, it will be done. The war has turned the tide of gold toward England, and the superabundant accumulation of glittering treasures is remarkable.

A VISIT TO THE BACK OF ENGLAND

is a most interesting privilege. By special permission we were allowed to visit the mammoth treasure house, a few days since, and were conducted into its deep strong vaults where, for once at least, we were "surrounded by wealth." The ingots of gold are in the form of small bricks, and each weighs sixteen pounds. They are worth £320, or $1,600 each, and were arranged on little trucks bearing 100 ingots, £32,000 or $160,000. How many of these trucks were in the large circular room I am unable to say, but there were enough to satisfy the most greedy, if he could call it all his own. In addition to this the coin is stowed by millions. A most ingenious invention is used for detecting light coin. As the remittances from different banks come in, they are poured into a small hopper, and the sovereigns pass out singly, and drop upon a small scale which instantly tosses the light ones to the left, and those of full weight to the right. When the whole have poured through the mill, the light ones are weighed, the deficiency changed back to the bank from which the remittance came, and the sovereigns re-coined. Many of these ingenious little machines are constantly at work, and each one sorts many thousand pounds daily.

The bank notes are never issued but once, and if they return in ten minutes, they pass to be registered, the signature is torn off and they are deposited in the vaults for seven years and then destroyed. By this arrangement, if a note is lost, it can be ascertained in two minutes if it has ever been returned to the Bank, and from what local Bank it came. These banks in turn keep the register of the notes they receive and can instantly tell who deposited them there. If notes are lost, and the number is held, and they are not in the Bank, if satisfactory security is given to refund in case the missing notes should return, new ones are issued to the loser. It is a deeply interesting study, to observe the wonderful system which here prevails, and the Bank of England is one of the most notable places to visit in London. But few however are allowed the privilege which we enjoyed.

BIRMINGHAM, TRIENNIAL MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

Sixty thousand dollars as receipts for one Musical Festival is a large return, yet such was the result of the one which has just closed in this town. In the latter part of the last century these festivals were instituted in aid of the General Hospital and they have continued regularly every three years till the present time. The Town Hall seats 3000 persons and the charge was one guinea ($5.00 in gold) at each performance for reserved seats and half that sum for unreserved seats. The festival continuing four days, there were eight sessions held on Thursday morning such was the rush that not only were all the seats reserved, but hundreds of guinea tickets were sold for standing room. At each session about 40 of the nobility of the land were present the Earl of Bradford presiding. The display of carriages reached a mile or more waiting those who came to receive the audience; the streets were barricaded and guarded to keep back the populace who assembled in tens of thousands to view the gay turn out, and the goddess of fashion must have been well satisfied with the worship of her devotees, for all were expected to appear in the most fashionable attire.

The Organ is one of the largest and finest in the world, and the choruses were rendered most effectively by fourhundred trained singers. The solos were of the first water. Mr. Sims Reeves tenor, being considered the best in the world, Tildens' Soprano, unsurpassed and others equally commended. It was for one of these Festivals the Oratorio of Elijah was composed, and here the Messiah had one of its first triumphs. This season a new Oratorio, St. Peter, was introduced by Mr. Benedict. Its reception was most enthusiastic and the music and composer were encored again and again. It is regarded by skilled musicians as equal if not superior to any former production of the kind, and is evidently destined to show great popularity. It opens with a storm on the sea of Galilee, instrumentally rendered which has a marvelous effect, and then conducts Peter through the various stages of his career, and concludes in triumph. This Oratorio will undoubtedly soon become familiar with the whole musical world.

A LETTER FROM BOHEMIA.

TEPLITZ, BOHEMIA, Aug. 20, 1870.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

This is a famous watering place in the Kingdom of Austria, and Province of Bohemia, where the Germans from all this section of the country and many foreigners congregate to take baths, and drink the water. The fashionables also come in great numbers, as in America they go to Saratoga and Newport, to show off their fine dress and equipages, and carry on flirtations. I come here by physician's advice simply to avail myself of the baths which have almost world-wide reputation. This place is about five hours by railway distant from Dresden, from which city, I came only day before yesterday. It is a perfectly delightful place, and I have very fine accommodations and I know of no reason why we may not enjoy ourselves here very much while I am availing myself of the means of restoration to health.

We had a remarkably fine and quick passage, about 8½ days from Quebec to Liverpool, and only 5½ days from land to land, that is, from the eastern coast of Newfoundland to the western coast of Ireland, a fair wind and smooth sea all of the way, and none of us seasick to amount to anything. We made no stop in Liverpool but went directly to London where we remained a week, which we all should have enjoyed very much more than we really did, but for the war which had just broken out between Germany and France, causing us much anxiety in various ways, among others, whether we should be able without greater difficulty than we deemed prudent to encounter, to get through to Dresden.

We finally concluded to try it. United a Courier in London who could speak both French and German, to go through with us, whose aid and services were invaluable. We were six days from London to Dresden, travelling much of the way in private carriages, as the railways were appropriated by the government for the transportation of soldiers and munitions of war. It is well that the old is established, and triumphant Republic, should be first to hail the new, and give her moral aid. But it is hardly to be expected that a nation of 40,000,000, mostly uneducated, should "inaugurate a Republic that will run so smoothly as our own, where a few people, virtuous, educated and harmonious laid the foundations, and gradually absorbed the foreign and diversified elements which lived into it. JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR

SATURDAY, OCT. 1, 1870.

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS.

On the 11th of October the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and Nebraska hold elections important in themselves, and of additional importance by reason of the effect they always exert upon the elections coming later in the year. Pennsylvania chooses Congressmen; Ohio, Congressmen and a Secretary of State, Supreme Judge, Controller, and member of the Board of Public Works; Indiana, Congressmen and a Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Judges of the Superior Court for four districts; Iowa, Congressmen, and a Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney-General, Register, and Judges of the Supreme Court; and Nebraska a full State ticket and Congressmen.

We see no reason why each of these elections should not result in a substantial Republican triumph. Each of them will, unless general apathy should throw away the contest. The majorities in our favor at the corresponding election two years ago were as follows: Pennsylvania, 9,677; Ohio, 17,388; Indiana, 001; Iowa, 24,285; Nebraska, 2,491. This vote was an unusually full one, of course in consequence of the Presidential canvass and the special importance thus attaching to the October elections.

The next year, with a great falling off in the vote and a universal lack of interest always experienced in the first year after a Presidential election, our majorities stood as follows: Pennsylvania, 4,593; Ohio, 7,918; Iowa, 20,145.

We trust to the Republicans of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and Nebraska to make a handsome increase upon these figures on the eleventh of October.

We are pleased to notice that the Belfast Journal is so well satisfied with our answer to its query, "What is a majority?" that it does not find it necessary to go into any further researches on its own account, for the purpose of enlightening a deluded public.

Our assistance was rendered through motives of pure benevolence—which prompt us to extend a helping hand to all those whom we find groping in pursuit of knowledge under difficulties—and, although the Journal fails to give us due credit for the solution of its vexatious problem, the consciousness of having lightened its labors in some small degree is ample recompense and we shall gladly co-operate in any of the Journal's future efforts to inform the people upon current topics where "the language usually employed is very inaccurate and the ideas of many persons in regard to them are ill-defined."

Our dispatches announce that Serrano, Regent of Spain, has ordered the execution of the Spanish Emancipation law in Cuba and Porto Rico, and that Captain Gen. De Rodas has ordered the publication of the law. This law passed at the last session of the Cortes, has the following provisions: All the children born since 1868 are to be freed on certain specified conditions; all children hereafter born of slave mothers are to be free; all slaves over 60 years of age receive their freedom, and all others so soon as they reach that age; all slaves belonging to the State, and all who have rendered services in opposing the insurrection are declared free.

There are many objectionable features to this measure and its practical working will fall far short of the expectations of those who have desired to see Spain rid herself entirely of this barbarous institution. It is encouraging, however, to note that the inadequacy of the present law is recognized by the Spanish Government, which promises to present a project for the complete emancipation of all slaves, so soon as the Deputies from the West Indian Colonies are admitted to the Constituent Cortes.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune writes from North Adams, Mass., an interesting account of the working of the experiment with Chinese labor. The writer states that the new hands have become familiar with their work, are contented and industrious, and that working more steadily and regularly, they turn out a larger average of work than the same number of Crispins, and of equal quality. The effect of this success on the shoe trade cannot yet be calculated. The Chinese already produce goods at a cost of $2 per case less than the Crispins did, and Mr. Sampson expects this saving eventually to reach $8 a case. This saving bids fair to revolutionize the manufacture of these goods.

The attendance of the Italian army at mass in St. Peter's, in pious recognition of the Holy Father, with the key of St. Peter's in the General's pocket, is regarded by the N. Y. Herald as a doubtful compliment.

THE UNEXPECTED BALANCES.—The Boston Advertiser's Correspondent states that Mr. Dawes had a conversation with several cabinet and bureau officers on Wednesday in regard to the working of the law conferring unexpended balances. The general testimony is that while it is causing considerable embarrassment, which must continue until Congress meets, it will compel all departments to change their methods of keeping books, so that there will be no overlapping or running forward of appropriations from year to year, and the money expended each year will be in exact accordance w h the appropriations made. With the close of this fiscal year the first full balance in ten years will be struck in all of the departments. It seems that this clause in question was drawn by the Senate committee, its bearings fully discussed, and its design understood to prevent the expenditure of a single dollar for any purpose not directly covered by an appropriation made. The opinion of those heads of departments most troubled by the law is that it will prove one of the most effectual and economic measures yet devised, and that after this year it will work smoothly.

STAMPED ENVELOPES. The schedule of prices for the new series of stamped envelopes will go into operation to-day. By the terms of the contracts the Post Office Department will be enabled to supply the best quality of stamped envelopes for the three-cent class at $33.40 per thousand. The cheapest rate at which they have been heretofore supplied was $34.80 per thousand. Business cards of request to return are gratuitously printed on envelopes where the order reaches the number of 500 or over.

It is stated that Wm. M. Tweed's intimate friends were accommodated at the Osburn House, Rochester, N. Y., during the time the Democratic menagerie was on exhibition there last week. Mr. Tweed provided free passes over the Erie Road for many of them. They celebrated the occasion by "plunging and pilfering" to the extent of fifteen thousand dollars, and this sum Mr. Tweed had to refund before the proprietor of the house consented to close his account.

The Russian Minister, M de Catacazy, left Boston Wednesday for Washington, by way of Fall River after a visit of several days. An object of his visit, beyond seeing the place, was to announce the arrival next spring of one of the grand dukes, a son of the Czar.

WAR NOTES.

The correspondent of the Tribune at Florence, 26th, telegraphs that Leonine City is reduced with exclusion from the Plebiscite. The Pope has dismissed his guard of honor. The Italian National Guard will accompany King Victor Emanuel to Rome.—The Tribune's special before Metz on the 27th, states that the troops of Prince Frederick Charles are in fine condition, the weather warm and dry and the troops settled in good quarters. The French have completed a new redoubt between St. Quentin and Plaiseville and also additional intrenchments inside the fortifications. Besides the troops in the city Bazaine's army is encamped in four places.—A special from Berlin, 27th, states that by next Sunday the whole corps destined to operate against Belport and Thono, will be concentrated in upper Alsace. Recruits for all the line of corps are already gathering at different rendezvous. Those for the Guards Corps will be enrolled from the 3d to the 10th of October. The popular appetite for conquest is increasing, but trustworthy accounts from headquarters represent the King and Bismarck as sincerely desirous of peace.—The blockade of the Elbe has been resumed by the French fleet.—The North German Gazette says the precipitancy of the American Government in recognizing the French Republic, is doubtless due to false information supplied by its Minister at Paris.—The Emperor Napoleon rides out daily in the environs of Wilhemshoite, and is received with every mark of respect by the inhabitants.—The Bohemian Diet met on Thursday and received the Imperial rescript. The document reiterates the indivisibility and inprescriptibility of Bohemia, and promises that the Crown will maintain the Constitution which is the only safeguard for all parties. The rescript concludes by urging an immediate election of deputies from Bohemia to the Reichsrath.—Strasbourg, says the N. Y. Post, has been defended with a persistence and devotion, in the face of inevitable ruin which have won the applause of admirers of heroism every where, and have given a strong moral support to the resistance of France at all assailed points, and especially at Paris. General Ulrich has continued his obstinate defence long after he was himself badly wounded, his works ruined, his guns nearly silenced, the city mostly burned, and his garrison half of it slaughtered and the rest half starved. To do this merely as a Quixotic sacrifice to a point of honor, would have been unjustifiable, but if General Ulrich, as we suppose, has done it deliberately, with a view to afford to suffering and bewildered France a point of moral support, while preparing further resistance to the invaders, he has nobly done his duty as a soldier, and is entitled to the same honor as if he had laid down his life in leading a storming party to a breach in an enemy's fortress.

GREAT STORM AND FLOOD IN VIRGINIA. A dispatch from Greenwood Depot, Virginia, states that a tremendous rain-storm commenced early Thursday morning and continued with such unabated violence that all modes of travel in that section, so far as heard from, were in an uninterrupted state. The eastern bound train on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway from White Sulphur Springs, Thursday morning, was unable to proceed farther than Afton Station, on account of a wash on the road and fills and side between Afton and Gordonsville. The train started to return, but after passing the Blue Ridge tunnel, it became unsafe to proceed farther, the water on the track being nearly up to the fires in the engine. A special train, containing Vice President Wickham, Superintendent Whitcomb, Director Risk and party, had barely passed over Waynesboro bridge when it was swept away by the flood. An eastern bound train, containing a large number of passengers, returning from Virginia Springs, was weather-bound in the mountains at the east end of the Blue Ridge tunnel.

PARIS now has but two ways of communicating with the outside world, one by means of balloons and another by carrier pigeons. The former is certainly perilous, and the frequency of communications must depend altogether on the direction of the wind. Besides this the resonant runs the risk of being brought down from his lofty altitude by the needle gun or Prussian shells, and must exercise the best of judgment in making his ascensions.—The carrier-pigeon system is precarious, since the birds only acquire homers of dispatches by instinct when returning to their homes; consequently the pigeons bearing messages from Paris to Tours belong to the latter city, and would not under any circumstances voluntarily return to Paris. When, therefore, the last of these fleet-winged birds, kept a prisoner in Paris, is loosed, communication by means of carrier-pigeons, will be cut off, unless a new supply of birds can be smuggled into the city through the Prussian lines.

LATEST NEWS IN BRIEF.

A National Bank under the gold note law, is to be established in San Francisco with a capital of $1,000,000.

The mortality tables reported at the Census Bureau show 1960 deaths in the District of Columbia in 1600.

The expectation at the Treasury Department is that the debt statement will show a reduction for September of about $6,000,000.

The revenue officials are engaged in reducing the number of Ass't Assessors throughout the country, and it is estimated that the number will be reduced one-half.

One of the dispatches indicates that the Guerriere is not alone in her disaster, as it states that a steamer of the Norwich line left New London, Thursday, to assist the "Frigates Guerriere and Brooklyn which are ashore on Nantucket Shoals."

Peter Donahue and James Phelan, the principal stockholders and depositors of the California Building and Loan Society, have decided to allow the business of the Institution to continue another year.

H. P. Comstock, the discoverer of the Comstock Silver Lode in Nevada, committed suicide on the 27th inst., by shooting himself through the head in a fit of insanity.

MUTINY AT SEA. The crew of the American ship Elizabeth Hamilton, Capt. White, which left Antwerp a few days ago for New York, became mutinous for some cause which is not stated, and the second officer was mortally wounded in attempting to subdue the mutiny. The vessel immediately put back to Antwerp, and on arriving there on Thursday, the ringleaders were turned over to the authorities.

ANOTHER BATTLE.

VICTORY CLAIMED BY THE FRENCH.

FRENCH SUCCESSES

[illegible] 29 By the recent successes of the French troops around Paris, the circle of the German investment has been shattered at [illegible] points and repelled to a distance varying from three to six miles, and the French have occupied the positions taken, in strong force.

THE ATTITUDE OF RUSSIA—EXCITEMENT AND ALARM ON THE CONTINENT

[illegible] The excitement here about the [illegible] of Russia is intensified to-day by further [illegible] of the military preparations of [illegible] in the Baltic province and on the Polish frontier and by the report that the [illegible] Government at Pesth, fearing the consequences of the Russian demonstrations [illegible] Austria insists upon the co-operation [illegible] upon the absolute neutrality of [illegible] in the event of hostilities breaking [illegible] Russia and Germany At the [illegible] the liberal journals of Vienna de[illegible] in the strongest terms any attempt of [illegible] Austrian Government to draw near Prussia [illegible] making a great point of the tyrannical [illegible] of the Prussian military authorities [illegible] Jacoby and other Prussian Dem[illegible]

NAPOLEON'S PRIVATE DOCUMENTS

[illegible] Sept [illegible]—A great number of private documents belonging to Emperor Napoleon which were recently seized at the Tuileries by officers of the new Government have [illegible] made public here in the official journal of Republic Many noted persons of [illegible] are implicated in the scandals The Provisional Government have already dismissed De Vienne, President of the Court of Cassation, he having been shown to be mixed up in the scandalous transactions of the ex Emperor and Marguerite Bellanger. The Jecker correspondence in relation to Mexico was unearthed implicating Duc De [illegible] and others, high in the Emperor's confidence Besides these were found letters [illegible] to Napoleon, proving the existence of a Black Tribunal and another from the Queen of Holland, written directly after [illegible] warning the Emperor against the events now occurring Altogether the disclosures in regard to the private life of Napoleon substantiate all the charges of opposition made and it is thought that the [illegible] soon to be published, will be still [illegible]

ENGLAND

London [illegible]—The papers expect little good from the Cabinet Meeting to-day on the subject of Foreign Affairs The result, says one journal, must dissatisfy the belligerents, and [illegible]

[illegible] CONFESSING

London —It is said that the French re[illegible] the Prussians at Wantes

According to a statement in Le Univers, General Vite Napoleon's Chief of Staff, sought [illegible] the battles around Metz and dis[illegible] the most reckless valor He admits that France was unprepared for war, and confesses he did not dare to tell the Emperor before the war commenced, in what state the [illegible] was

Col Leslie goes as British Military Commissioner to the Prussian front.

FRENCH STATEMENTS

Tours, 30.—A report is reiterated that Gen [illegible] arrived in the French service stated he [illegible] Colonels commission, but has [illegible] appointed General and at present [illegible] troops in the South of France

The Foreign Embassadors met to day in [illegible] of the receipt of important news from M Thiers

The Government is considering the question of ordering elections for the Constituent Assembly in October and it is understood that the majority of Ministers are in favor of this plan

Arrangements have been made, which if successfully carried out, will give us news from Paris every day

Lyons is now more quiet, the Factions agitation having partially subsided

The Government here have taken effectual measures to prevent the revival of disturbances in that city

The army of Loire now organizing will be commanded by Gen La Motterouge, and Gen [illegible] who escaped from Strasburg in disguise, at Trenched Lyons

Additional engagements have taken place around Paris since last reports, in which the French are reported to have obtained fresh successes

A number of Italian and Spanish volunteers are expected to arrive at Lyons

The weather continues warm and clear The water in the river is so low that the Prussians can easily wade across

Special to N Y Herald

London 30—It has been determined by the Cabinet to make a strong last appeal to Prussia to consent to terms of peace in consideration of the destruction of Fortresses Alsace and Lorraine without dismembering France

It is rumored that England is imitating Russia in her war like movements

London, Sept. 30 The English Ministers met in Council to-day, after a long holiday—The nation is impatient at their inaction while her ally of 20 years is struggling in her last agony The course of the Cabinet is indicated in the Times of this morning.

It cannot, says the Times, redound to our glory to express an opinion without the intention of enforcing it. Nor can it, in the judgment of any person, redound to to our glory to abstain from expressing an opinion when demanded of us, because we may find ourselves differing from a powerful neighbor

Mr Bruce's speech at Greenock about Alsace and Lorraine, is equally significant.

The Democrats in Germany are becoming bold in their protest against the unnecessary humiliation of France

The continued arrests for expressing of such sentiments only gives strength to the current feeling

Gold is rapidly accumulating in the Bank of England in the absence of foreign demand.

A dispatch from St Petersburg reports that the Czar consented to receive M Thiers only at a private interview and in his capacity as a private individual

Tours, Sept. 30 The Government here will issue decrees to-morrow which devolves upon the Prefects of Departments the duty of organizing a mobilized national guard, which is to be composed of all volunteers and all men between 21 and 40 Those between 21 and 35 subject to military regulations, are to remain in the mobilized guard until the Minister of War calls for them. The decree is in fact, a levy en masse. The Prefects are authorized to take the arms of the national home guard and transfer them to the mobilized guard, and also make a demand for private arms whenever found.

One article places the Franc Tireurs at the disposal of the Minister of War and subjects them to military discipline in common with the mobilized guard.

A special article exempts telegraphic employes from military service

London, Sept. 30. There is great dread of reactionary tendencies in Prussia amongst the German Liberals. They say should King William proclaim himself Emperor of Germany there will be a Republic in Fatherland before five years elapses. This is the universal conviction throughout Germany.

Special to New York World—

Ostend 30, Intense excitement this evening, caused by arrival of a special messenger from Valenciennes bringing news of a great battle fought on the Seine on Tuesday, 27th, which resulted in complete defeat of Crown Prince of Prussia under the guns of Mont Valerien. This victory was followed by the evacuation of Versailles and Rambouillet, and the rupture of the German line of investment, the Crown Prince retreating rapidly northwest upon the army of the King, at Meaux and Soissons

In official telegrams from Berlin, by way of Brussels, contradicts this report, but it is certain that the communications between Paris Rouen, Amiens and Valenciennes has partly been reopened and that official proclamations of the Victory of Tuesday was signed by Gambetta, and have been received in the latter city,

THE FLOOD

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 30

Rain commenced falling at 2 30 p m, with the mercury at 37°, continuing until 9 p m, with no indications of clearing up The soil is in much need of a refreshing draught, and it is earnestly hoped that a sufficient amount will fall

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 30

The flood reached here at 12 30 p m in a wave five feet high, and in 20 minutes the river rose six feet There was great excitement in the lower part of the city in removing goods from places accessible to water—Orange Hotel and the Orange & Alexandria Railroad bridges at Lynchburg were swept away this morning

A dispatch from Gordonsville says Later accounts of the flood represent the disasters as exceeding the first reports The Orange & Alexandria Railroad bridge over Rockfish river has been swept away, and the bridges over the river and Manes' Creek on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, also gone Barling & Wells' two mills have both gone down the river Anna, with 400 bbls flour afloat around them The river Anna is filled with the debris of barns, furniture, agricultural implement crops &c All the crops on low lands are a total loss Telegraphic lines to Lynchburg and west are badly damaged

Vice President Wickham of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, between Greenwood and Waynesboro, with two trains, is unable to advance or recede The water has risen in this city (Richmond) 10 feet since noon—This water is from the river Anna, that from Lynchburg will reach here about midnight The water at Lynchburg is twenty-five feet higher than ever before

MILITARY

FORTRESS MONROE, Sept 30

Four companies of U S artillery arrived here this evening from North Carolina, where they have been on duty during the last two months

SOUR GRAPES The residents in the vicinity of Third street were awakened yesterday morning at a little past four o'clock by a heavy report, immediately followed by three more, which were ascribed by some to the blasting of rocks, but an inquiry it proved that some early marauder in search of grapes in the garden of Mr McLaughlin, was unfortunately disturbed before reaching the desired fruit, by the discharge of a spring gun a few feet from him, which was succeeded by three shots of a revolver from one of the windows Concluding the grapes were sour he took the shortest way to the street, probably thinking it better to buy than to stop longer at that time

He was awarded the first premium for stallions under five years old, which was a great compliment as much [illegible] held of Knox, Drew and Hambletonian stock were brought out there. The McDuffee colt is a beautiful bay, good size and made up well has the Hambletonian form is finer boned than we have before seen it, with limb and feet that seem perfection This colt has already trotted a half mile in 2 15—We predict a brilliant career for him if no accident befalls him

THE LIME ROCK BANK ROBBERS.—The cases of the Bank robbers have been promptly disposed of by the Court at Rockland. A dispatch received yesterday afternoon informs us that Litchfield was found guilty by the jury, his counsel filing exceptions and moving for a new trial, and Moore and Height having pleaded guilty were sentenced to seven years each in the State Prison, where they were incarcerated yesterday by Warden Rice On account of the prisoner's ill-health the case of Daniels was continued to the December term.

Our evening dispatches give the following details of yesterday's proceedings The case of Litchfield was given to the jury at 12:15 o'clock when the Court adjourned The jury came in and rendered a verdict of guilty Litchfield's counsel then gave notice that they should file exceptions The physician of Daniels was then examined and testified that Daniels was not in a condition to be brought into court and would probably live but a short time His case was therefore continued, his bail being fixed at the original sum requested, $25 000 The Government moved for sentence in the case of Moore and Hight. The counsel Moore moved his frank statement, good character since his arrest and his assistance to the bank officers in recovering its notes and papers, in mitigation of his sentence Hight, having no counsel, was asked if he had anything to say in his own behalf, briefly addressed the court. He said that he and Moore would never have come here if they had not been induced to do so When then arrived they should have gone away without committing the crime if they had not been overpersuaded; and had endeavored to give no trouble to the officers since that time, that he had made all the restitution he could, that he had already undergone five months' imprisonment, and that no amount of future punishment would add to the strength of the resolution he had formed to lead a better life He therefore hoped that the court would be lenient in adjudging his sentence The court drew a distinction between the violence of the Bowdoinham robbery and the present cases, where there appeared to be no intention of inflicting personal harm to accomplish the robbery and where the vigilance of the faithful watchman might have prevented it. Moore and Hight were then sentenced to seven years imprisonment and were committed to the State Prison at Thomaston.

The court room was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon, most of the audience being ladies

—The Maine Standard says the workmen are now engaged in taking down the brick work of the new cotton factory of the Messrs Sprague & Co, at Augusta, which was commenced last season About six feet depth of brick work had been built, but the rise in the river flowed in while the mortar was green, making the part which had been built insecure. The entire brick work is to be taken down and laid over again from the stone foundations No better foundations can be found anywhere than those upon which the new factory will rest

—The Standard states that on Wednesday evening at about six o'clock two large derricks on the bulkhead of the dam fell to the ground, seriously injuring Mr John Brown and two other persons

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

FIFTH DAY

The exercises of the Institute continued throughout Friday, closing Friday evening—There was a good attendance, indicative of the steadily growing interest in the exercises of the Institute The working members of the Institute here number one hundred and forty five, of whom seventy five submitted to an examination, as the law requires

Friday forenoon Mr Stetson presented with brief explanation of each, a summary of the principles upon which the instructors had endeavored to conduct the Institute—principles that are recognized by the best educators as at the basis of all successful teaching Here are specimens "Teach what we use in after life" By this we settle the course of study proper for a common school Again, "Teach as we use in after life." By this we settle the method which should be followed in giving instruction "Make the least, not the most of each study" This means that we should teach of each branch only so much as will be useful For the teacher's perpetual remembrance we have this "Teach the ignorant, preserve the innocent, reclaim the vicious" But we cannot enlarge

Prof Allen next gave an illustration of the way children should be taught elementary geography on the object method Begin at home and teach the world around, direction, geographical terms, animals and plants—all from nature and not from books. The Professor also discoursed of the classification of schools He would allow of only about sixteen or eighteen recitations in any ungraded, country school

In the afternoon came the written examination The questions, ten in each study, were put upon the blackboard, so that all could see The teachers entered into this part of the exercise with a good deal of vim, and came out, we are inclined to think, rather better than the average

The evening exercises opened with a few remarks from Mr. Stetson, urging the teachers to increase their intellectual power by a systematic course of literary reading, which should embrace the masters of poetry, romance and history Ten pages a day would give sixty pages a week, or a good sized volume every ten weeks, five such volumes a year, and fifty of them in ten years.

Prof Allen next gave an address, which was highly pleasing and instructive, but unreportable He discoursed of the training of children, and he knows them thoroughly—He pleaded especially for the boys.

In conclusion, State Superintendent Johnson, after a few exceedingly well put, strong and beautiful words, presented the certificates to all who had submitted to the examination. These certificates, signed by Prof Allen as conductor of the Institute, by the State Superintendent, and by County Supervisor Plummer, are graded and show the rank attained in each study.

Resolutions, highly commendatory of the Institute, were presented in behalf of the teachers, by Mr Roberts, City Superintendent of Schools

INDIAN COMPLAINTS—The written statement of Little Raven, and Yellow Bear, Chiefs of the Arapahoes, have been received in Washington, complaining that the stipulations of their treaty with the United States Government have not been carried out, and asking for a change of the Agency and for the seed and farming utensils promised them.

Colonel Vaughn has been nominated for Congress by the labor reform party of Kansas The republican majority in 1868 was over fifteen thousand, and the Republican candidate, D. P. Lowe, will undoubtedly be elected in spite of all diversions.

Alfred J. Clark has been recognized as the American Consular Agent at Remedios, Cuba.

THE FARRAGUT OBSEQUIES.

The Remains of Admiral Farragut arrived at Fall River Thursday evening from Hyannis, where they were landed in the evening by a steamer from the grounded Frigate on Nantucket shoals. The Catafalque was accompanied by the Marine Band of the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and was in charge of the following Committee appointed in New York, viz. Lawrence Jerome, Admiral Bailey, Gen. C K Graham and John S. Cunningham, Paymaster at the Brooklyn Navy Yard Also, by Lieut Farragut of the U S. Army, son of the Admiral, Henry Montgomery, his late Aid and Secretary, Commodore Pennock, Commandant of the Station at Portsmouth, Mr Oscar Sawyer, and several Naval Officers. The Flag under which the Admiral fought his battles was wrapped around his coffin. The remains left Fall River Thursday evening in the Steamer Bristol for New York, the Band playing a beautiful and appropriate dirge as the Steamer left the dock.

THE CHINESE IN NEW JERSEY. The New York World of Wednesday says

Capt. Hervey, the employer of the Chinese workmen at Belleville, N J, alleges that he has been misrepresented in several of the newspapers Each man in the employ of Mr Hervey gets $20 in gold per month, paid to the workmen themselves, and not to a San Francisco merchant, as has been reported—The money is not even allowed to go through the hands of the overseer, his duty being simply to keep an account of the time made by the men Not one of the old hands employed in the establishment has been discharged since the arrival of the Chinese, and the proprietor says he does not intend to discharge any one Sixteen girls left the place as soon as the Chinese arrived, twelve of whom have returned and are now teaching the beginners The others are at work as usual

Capt Hervey asserts that the men are all scrupulously neat in their habits, and bathe twice daily, that they use no opium, nor have they any on the premises When asked if there were any house servants among them, he replied "Yes, there are two or three who would make good servants in any family, but I shall not employ them there, for I have no trouble in finding good house servants I employed these people for the laundry because I needed them, and because I could not hire here such people as are necessary for the work

There are sixty-eight young men in the party, employed for three years at the price stated They are ready and willing to learn, and bid fair to be good and profitable workmen Capt Hervey says that he has very little doubt as to who was the author of the threatening letter he received a few days ago, that he has received no more of the kind and anticipates no trouble The girls employed in the works see that their best course is to be industrious and stick to their places, and yesterday everything was going on satisfactorily

A meeting is to be held to night at Belleville to denounce the coolie labor movement It will probably be attended by a large number of the dissatisfied, but that any measures will be taken to drive out, the Chinese may well be doubted

BANGOR, Sept 28, 1870

This is to certify that I have been sick for twenty-five years with liver complaint, as the physicians have all told me I have been treated in New York and Bangor by a large number of Physicians and found no relief until I called on MRS MANCHESTER a short time ago She told me very readily what the trouble was—that I had abscesses and tumors, I have taken her medicines, and have had proof that what she told me was perfectly correct If any one doubts this let them call on me personally, and I will give them correct information in regard to my case, I want the sick and suffering to go and consult Mrs MANCHESTER, and not be discouraged by ignorant and faithless people, but have a mind of your own, and you will get relief

DISEASES such as Consumption, Bronchitis, Debility from Typhoid and other Low Fevers, from excessive grief, study, or close confinement, and prostration of the vital powers, yield to FELLOWS'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES sooner than any remedy ever before discovered. The muscles of the stomach are strengthened, digestion becomes complete, the Lacteals take up nutrition, the blood becomes vitalized and pure, the nervous system, vigorous, and the thin, pale, or sallow complexioned become plump and hearty and regain the ruddy tint of health

MRS MANCHESTER, the celebrated Clairvoyant Physician, now at the Bangor House astonishes all by her wonderful success in curing diseases The facility with which she raises the prostrate frame, invigorates it with new life, and charms it with bright hope, is the mystery and admiration of the day Her method of examination, her deep insight into disease, her profound knowledge of the Materia Medica, are all proverbial Where other [illegible] and in the [illegible] she seems to tread in the light of certainty, [illegible] as a consequence complete success All should consult her who wish for a speedy cure, and thorough advice, or Mrs Manchester has had them in a remarkable and gratifying [illegible] Her stay is limited to a few days longer

Central Railroad, of Iowa,
235 MILES IN LENGTH
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This Company are now pushing their work forward with great rapidity, and the entire line necessary to connect St. Louis and St Paul is graded and under contract to be finished this season The fact that this enterprise has been undertaken by a combination of leading bankers and railroad capitalists of well known wealth, experience, and ability, insures its early completion and future success.

The road runs through the richest and most thickly settled portion of Iowa, and is built in the interests of the great Northern system of roads which centre at St. Paul The of the Company pay 7 per cent Gold Interest, free of Government tax, and are issued for the very small amount of $10 000 per mile For the present the unsold portion are offered at 95 and accrued interest The attention of investors is invited to the fact that the road is now nearly finished, and that the Security is therefore entitled to a high rank.

In our opinion, no class of investments has been found so uniformly safe and profitable as First Mortgages on completed railroads

Of 235 companies operating 30 000 miles of railroad in the Northern and Western States, of which there is a bonded debt of $602,000,000, we know of but two that do not pay their interest regularly.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present

RAIN AFTER DROUGHT.

BY JOHN W. CHADWICK.

A few short hours ago, and all the lands
Lay, as in fever, faint and parched with drought;
And so had pain, while many a weary day
Dragged its long horror of its minutes on.
The jubilous fruits fell from the dusty trees.
The farmer doubted if the Lord was good,
As sad, he watched the labor of his hands,
Made useless by the Day-god's fiery mood.

The hot streets sickened in the burning glare;
The roadsides lost the glory of their green;
No sweet cool grass sang up to feed the eye,
Where once the mower with his scythe had been.

A few short hours ago! And now, behold,
Freshness and beauty gleam on every side;
The earth has drunk its fill, and all about
The amber pools are stretching far and wide.

A million drops are flashing in the sun;
The springs for flow no upper wonder know;
The farmer laughs, and little cares how fast
Through his torn hat the cooling streamlets flow.

And all the fields and pastures seem to say,
With joyous smile that I shall ne'er forget,
And with the flowers and trees in chorus join,
"We know 'twould come; He never faileth yet."

Call of my life, as God of all beside,
This lovely wonder, which thy hand hath wrought,
Quickens in thought the mercies manifold
Which thy great love into my soul hath brought.

For I have lain, full oft, as hot and dry,
As ever earth in summer's hottest hour;
And the long days, slow crossing over me,
Brought me no tokens of thy gracious power.

Then, at thy word, down fell thy spirit rain;
I felt its coolness all my being through;
Made fresh and clean and joyous every whit,
I heard the whisper, "I make all things new."

But mine, alas! was not the holy faith
The parched earth felt through all her dry hours,
I was in fear that near or more again
Should I be quickened by the heavenly power.

So shall it be no more, but, though I lie
For many days as one then dost forget,
Recalling this glad hour, my heart shall say,
"I know 'twill come; he never failed me yet."

Henry Clay used to say that there were three classes of people with whom it was never safe to quarrel. First—Ministers, for the reason that they could denounce me from the pulpit, and I had none through which to reply. Second—Editors, for they had the most powerful engines from which they could every day hurl wrath and fury upon me, and I had none through which to reply. And finally, with women, for they would have the last word anyhow.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION OF GIRLS.—Walking is the only active out-door exercise which boarding-schools encourage girls to "attempt," and society considers no other as quite proper for them in after life. But to follow behind their teacher in the slow regularity of a procession as they are required to do, at school, with no music nor banners nor any of the gay accessories that enliven the processions of their elders, is sufficient in itself to disgust them with the exercise to the remainder of their days. A free ramble through wood and dale, in search of flowers and minerals, or from love of scenery and wide skies, might inculcate a taste for vauntering and long tramps, and would, for the time at least, bring a glow to their cheeks, and a freshness and variety to their daily life; but anything so spontaneous and irregular would be inconsistant with that character of quasi-prisoners, which such institutions seem to invest their students. And when, as young ladies, they venture abroad, with that elaborate elegance of attire, that precision of manner, that mincing, lackadaisical gait which the world expects them to assume, sunshiny in veils, canopied by parasols and clinging to the shady side of the street, we question whether the word exercise is not a misnomer, and whether such a gliding pageant can be said to live and move and have her being in any thorough sense. Walking, then, for most women, is a farce; city ladies find it convenient, with cars and carriages, to avoid it as much as possible, and countrywomen are firm in the belief that no one but tramps and beggars are ever seen on foot a mile from home.

Horseback riding has its seasons of popularity, and the sight of a brave young equestrienne with flying plume and fluttering skirt, dashing along some quiet avenue, is said to be a fine and picturesque thing. We are glad, however, that it is so rare a sight, and that very few, comparatively, can indulge in this hazardous exercise; for as long as fashion regulates that a girl shall sit upon her horse in the present absurd, one-sided manner, with body unbalanced, climbs cramped and feet hampered by a great length of enfolding drapery, so long must her life be put in jeopardy every time she places herself in the saddle. It is best to avoid the exercise altogether in this opinion, shall permit her to assume a costume and posture that shall be more comfortable for both horse and rider, giving her a firm, easy seat and ready control of her horse, and suffer her, also, to dismount from the stirrup in case any accident makes it necessary.

But before this can take place a great change in public opinion must be wrought. One [illegible] must be made intelligent be-

Hundreds suffer on in silence and hundreds of others apply wrongly to druggists and doctors, who either morally tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that is false or unjustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child-birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vaginal canal.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life, health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The manifold, but evils for precocious education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress, the confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. There, with the body half-clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnight revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day thus aggravating the evil. When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the most constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air; the sudden change of temperature; the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate miss, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women.

Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs, they require an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breasts and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life, and as we shall subsequently see, these emotions when excessive, lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims are half accomplished their development.

For Female Weaknesses and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhœa, Too Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion, Too Long Continued Periods, for Prolapsus and Bearing Down, or Falling of the Womb, or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most perfect remedy known.
